With 4-minute muscle, the premise is to squeeze as many reps as you can for a given exercise into a 4-minute block of time. You can do this for any muscle group, just pick one exercise and rep out for 4 minutes, resting as needed. It may sound simple, but don't confuse that with easy. Here's everything you need to know.

To do the 4-Minute Muscle technique, pick a weight on the exercise that allows you to complete at least 15 reps, but fewer than 20 reps. You have 4 minutes to complete as many reps as possible. You can also use the 4MM technique for bodyweight exercises with which you can't complete at least 15 reps.

A typical 4-Minute Muscle rep scheme might look like this: 10 reps, rest 15 seconds or so; 10 reps, rest for a bit; 9 reps, rest; 6 reps, rest; 3 reps, and four minutes is up. That adds up to 38 reps total, which puts you in that 36-45-rep sweet spot. That's a great hypertrophy-promoting workout for that exercise.
