Pagnation ¶ CodeIgniter provides a very simple, but flexible pagnation library that is simple to theme, works with the model, and capable of supporting multiple pagnators on a single page. Loading the Library ¶ Like all services in CodeIgniter, it can be loaded via Config/Services, though you usually will not need to load it manually:

Pagnation — CodeIgniter 4.0.4 documentation

`$this->pagnation->initialize($config); echo $this->pagnation->create_links();` Notes: The $config array contains your configuration variables. It is passed to the `$this->pagnation->initialize` function as shown above. Although there are some twenty items you can configure, at minimum you need the three shown.

Pagnation Class : CodeIgniter User Guide

It is passed to the `$this->pagnation->initialize()` method as shown above. Although there are some twenty items you can configure, at minimum you need the three shown. Here is a description of what those items represent: `base_url` This is the full URL to the controller class/function containing your pagnation. In the example above, it is pointing to a controller called "Test" and a function called "page".

In order to use pagnation in CodeIgniter, the first thing you need to do is to load the pagnation library. And we can do it by using `$this->load->library('pagnation')`. We've also loaded the URL helper so that we can use global helper functions provided by that helper.

Pagnation in CodeIgniter: The Complete Guide

`$this->pagnation->initialize($config);` initializes the pagnation library using the config array value that we defined and assign the above values to. `$page = ($this->uri->segment(2)) ? $this->uri->segment(2) : 0;` checks if the skip number has been set in the second segment of the URI and if its not set then the value 0 is assigned to the variable `$page`
