The nature versus nurture debate is one of the oldest issues in psychology. The debate centers on the relative contributions of genetic inheritance and environmental factors to human development. Some philosophers such as Plato and Descartes suggested that certain things are inborn, or that they occur naturally regardless of environmental influences.

Nature vs. Nurture: Genes or Environment?

Psychology - Nature, Nurture, and Human Diversity. Human beings differ from and resemble each other in various ways. Personality and character is determined by the individual's external environment (nature) and genetic structure (nurture). The study of the contribution of nature and nurture to human diversity is referred to as behavioral genetics. Environmental factors are diverse and may range from pre-natal nutrition to social status.
