They Should Have Asked My Husband by Pam Ayres

Pam Ayres I am going to kill my husband, I have stuck all I can stick, His constant criticising is getting on my wick. He takes it all for granted, but tonight I can relax. For the minute he complains, I shall whop him with the axe. Yes, I'm going to kill my husband, I shall have him to be sure, He's never going to curse my navigation any more.

I'm Going To Kill My Husband by Pam Ayres

My friends don't call so often, they have busy lives I know But its not everyday you want to hear a windbag suck and blow. Encyclopaedias, on them we never have to call Why clutter up the bookshelf when my husband knows it all! Pam Ayres Recommend 0 recommendations Published in Senior Chatters

They should have asked my Husband. poem by Pam Ayres ...

Just run it past my husband, wind him up and let him go. Congestion on the motorways, free holidays for thugs, The damage to the ozone layer, refugees, drugs, These may defeat the brain of any politician bloke, But present it to my husband, he will solve it at a stroke. He'll clarify the situation, he will make it crystal clear,

I love Pam Ayres, so knew I would like this CD. When I read her poems myself I always 'hear' her voice in my head - but it's not the same as actually listening to her. I saved the CD for weeks until I had to make a long and stressful journey - then I used it to keep me awake when I was getting tired. It was a complete life-saver!!!!
