Bamforth's were the British publishers of a series of 'saucy' postcards that reached a saturation market in the 1950's. They are still hugely popular, especially at seaside resorts in the UK. Mind you, some of the jokes are pretty basic but you will get to learn what Scotsmen wear under their kilts and what fat ladies look like in tiny bikinis.

Saucy postcards - Saga

Bamforth and Company was founded by James Bamforth in the late 19th century and by the end of World War I more than 20 million postcards were being produced each year, selling all over the world. Established in Holmfirth, West Yorkshire, Bamforth quickly became the world's largest publisher of saucy, comic Postcards, depicting among others, hen pecked husbands, large ladies, with lots of cheeky captions.
