Considerations about the interpretation of music and the music style. And what is musical style? I think it can be explained as the impression reflected upon the music by the manners, customs, and modes of thought which were characteristic of the epoch when it was written.

Musical Style : interpretation of music

In principle, music interpretation means a combination of two things: Interpreting the intent of the composer by observing and approximating the musical markings indicated on the score. This includes all the tempo, dynamic, pedal, and articulation markings. For instance, not only do you play p or ff according to the score where they are shown, you also make the determination as to how much p should a passage be played, given its structural or harmonic context.

In his 1983 book, Music as Heard, which sets out from the phenomenological position of Husserl, Merleau-Ponty, and Ricœur, Thomas Clifton defines music as "an ordered arrangement of sounds and silences whose meaning is presentative rather than denotative. . . . This definition distinguishes music, as an end in itself, from compositional technique, and from sounds as purely physical objects."

Definition of music - Wikipedia

Conductor, in music, a person who conducts an orchestra, chorus, opera company, ballet, or other musical group in the performance and interpretation of ensemble works. At the most fundamental level, a conductor must stress the musical pulse so that all the performers can follow the same metrical rhythm. The keeping of this rhythmic beat is accomplished by a stylized set of arm and hand movements that outline the basic metre— e.g., two beats to the measure (as in a polka), three beats (as ...
