Multicollinearity in Regression using SPSS
~~Estudi 1, Maxime Alphonse, 4. Très vif~~ Vif
Variance inflation factor (VIF) is used to detect the severity of multicollinearity in the ordinary least square (OLS) regression analysis. Multicollinearity inflates the variance and type II error. It makes the coefficient of a variable consistent but unreliable. VIF measures the number of inflated variances caused by multicollinearity.

Variance Inflation Factor (VIF) - Overview, Formula, Uses

In statistics, the variance inflation factor (VIF) is the quotient of the variance in a model with multiple terms by the variance of a model with one term alone. It quantifies the severity of multicollinearity in an ordinary least squares regression analysis. It provides an index that measures how much the variance (the square of the estimate's standard deviation) of an estimated regression ...

VIF - What does VIF stand for? The Free Dictionary

The variance inflation factor (VIF) quantifies the extent of correlation between one predictor and the other predictors in a model. It is used for diagnosing collinearity/multicollinearity. Higher values signify that it is difficult to impossible to assess accurately the contribution of predictors to a model. How the VIF is computed

The VIF for predictor  $i$  is  $1 / (1 - R_i^2)$ , where  $R_i^2$  is the  $R^2$  from a regression of predictor  $i$  against the remaining predictors. If  $R_i^2$  is close to 1, this means that predictor  $i$  is well explained by a linear function of the remaining predictors, and, therefore, the presence of predictor  $i$  in the model is redundant.
